Laws Of Country

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9.—The practice of certain banks in pyramiding credits, by a process of re-discounting their own paper with other banks and thereby endangering their safety and the interests of their depositors, was scored today by Comptroller of Currency D. R. Crissinger, in his annual report to congress.

Congress was asked by the comptroller to amend the banking laws and impose drastic limitations on banks that few failures from this cause will result and that greater banking safety will be insured.

He said if congress had restricted the re-discount practice the country would not have witnessed 34 bank failures last year. While the comp-

TWO ALARMS SENT IN LATE SUNDAY; DAMAGE IS LIGHT

Two calls to fires resulting from defective flues were answered by the fire departments Sunday afternoon and evening.

The first call came about five o'clock Sunday afternoon from the home of Clyde F. Barnes, south Fourth-st. The fire there was too close to the floor, and the woodwork became overheated, chemicals only were used in extinguishing the blaze. The damage was estimated at $25. Both trucks answered the call.

Department number 2 answered a call later in the evening to the home of Clarence Linsenmeyer on north Eighth-st. The woodwork at the rear of the chimney on the first floor had become overheated and was smouldering when the firemen arrived. The application of a small amount of water stopped the fire there. The only damage was that resulting from cutting of the wall to get to the wood.

Before the eyes of 1,700 local people, gathered at the edge of the river bank at Locust-st to witness the baptismal services, yesterday, Miss Schmidt, daughter of Lorenzo Schmidt, Revelation 14 Mission Man, was immersed in the waters of the Tuscarawas river, late Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. White, colored, from Utica, N. Y. and Mrs. Belle Schuyler and her son Harry, of Youngstown, candidates to be baptized, thru some misfortune missed train connections yesterday and failed to arrive in time to be baptized yesterday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. White arrived in Coshocton late Sunday evening and were baptized in the waters of the Tuscarawas river by Mr. Schmidt, near the hour of 10 o'clock Sunday evening. About fifty people witnessed this ceremony last night. Mr. and Mrs. White will immediately enter into the missionary field as workers.

On Tuesday afternoon at 12:30 o'clock, Mrs. Schuyler and her son Harry, 12, will be immersed in the Tuscarawas river at Locust-st. DE VALERA REAFFIRMS DECISION TO WITHDRAW FROM PRESIDENCY

RUSSIA MOVES TO TAKE HER PLACE AMONG THE POWERS

Recognition Of The Soviet Is Expected As Early Development

STRENGTH GROWS

BERLIN, Jan. 9.—Carl Radek of the Moscow Soviet who was once expelled from Germany, visited the Rhineland during the past week with passports issued by the German government. Radek is acting as the diplomatic envoy of the Russian government and has been received in audience by the foreign office officers and other officials, all of whom gave him a cordial welcome.

The position of the Soviet as outlined by men in close touch with Moscow is that Russia has all to gain and nothing to lose by future developments. The Moscow government is said to be stronger today than at any other time since its erection.

The high Bolshevik leaders are determined to carry out their off repeated program eventually, altho reports to the contrary have been circulated recently.

In the meantime the cleverest of the Soviet agents are preparing the ground in European capitals for close relations when recognition comes. Russians who were formerly pilloried as "unfit for decent men to associate with," now have access to the highest government officials and are received by diplomats with the utmost courtesy. This is only one of the growing symptoms that Russia may get the whip hand in European politics.

It will be up to the new council to decide on the ordinance providing for a police relief or pension fund for Coshocton. The ordinance has been given two readings by the old council and then passed on to the new council.

Some definite action on the ordinance is expected to be taken by the new council Monday evening.

STILL IS FOUND IN WALHONDING HOME SUNDAY MORNING

County Officers Walk In Upon Colored Man In Act
Of Distilling

A still, which according to information received by county officials has been supplying "white mule" for a number of the prominent residents in the New Castle and Walhonding vicinity, was confiscated from the home of Garfield Thompson, colored, two miles northwest of Walhonding Sunday morning.

When Sheriff Earnest Darr, Deputy Sheriff James Stewart and Prosecutor Lloyd S. Leach arrived at the Thompson home Sunday morning they found the still producing the liquor at its greatest capacity.

Thompson was brot to Coshocton. Mayor Tish was called from church to preside at the hearing, and a fine of $500 and costs assessed Thompson when he pleaded guilty to a charge of manufacturing intoxicating liquor.

The liquor was tested and found to be 35 per cent alcohol. Five gallons of the booze and the improvised still were confiscated by the officers. The latter was one of the most ingenious devices for the manufacture of liquor yet confiscated in this county. It was composed of a five gallon oil can, three bags of galvanized iron pipe, a one gallon jug, and a wooden cooking trough equipped with a length of copper pipe.

According to Thompson's story, he and his wife have been living in their two room home, which is on the Banc Lease farm in Singer Hollow, for the past six months. He said that he was employed at various times husking corn and other odd jobs on nearby farms. He has had the still which was found by the officers for the past three months, he said.

He was confined to the county jail where he will be held for several days pending the completion of arrangements to pay his fine of $500 and costs.

Sinn Fein Cabinet Goes with Him—Will Support Republican Movement And Run Again For President
—Collins And Griffith Declare They Can Beat Him

DUBLIN, Jan. 9.—Arthur Griffith, founder of the Sinn Fein today formed a provisional government for southern Ireland, himself taking the office of president.

Griffith undertook the creation of the new Irish government after Eamonn DeValera had resigned as "President of the Irish Republic" and Dail Eireann had voted down a resolution to re-elect DeValera.

DUBLIN, Jan. 9.—Eamonn DeValera today reaffirmed his resignation as president of the Irish republic when Dail Eireann met again today at University College.

DeValera said that his resignation carried with it the resignation of the Sinn Fein (or dail) cabinet.

Despite his resignation DeValera indicated he would attempt to continue the exercise of power. He intimated that he would again run for "President" and that in the meantime he would continue to head the Republican forces and the organization that has been collecting funds for support of the Republican movement.

Adherents of the Collins-Griffith faction claim that they could put a candidate in the field who could defeat DeValera if they were minded to do so.

LONDON, Jan. 9.—British government experts already are at work drafting the new Irish bill which will create formally the Irish free state. (Continued on Page Six)

COLUMBUS TEAM TO PLAY SOLDIERS ON CENTRAL FLOOR

The basketball patrons of this city will have an opportunity to see one of the fastest professional teams ever on the Central gym floor, when the Columbus Mendel Tailors get into action against the Ralph Court-right Post team, Wednesday night. Only once, and that was by the Newark Helseys, were the Mendels defeated this season in basketball. This contest was played for "blood" on the Newark battling grounds. The Mendels were "runners-up" for the state championship in basketball last year. They have a splendid record this season. The legion team under the leadership of Russell Moore, captain, has trained hard for this match. As a result of a practice game Friday night the boys were in excellent condition Saturday. Arrangements have been made at the Central gymnasium to take care of a record crowd of fans. Here is Coshocton's lineup for the match: Capt. R. Moore and Hogan, forwards; Mulligan and Patton center; Robson, Brode, Callahan and Unger, guards. The next big basketball event at the Central gym will be staged on January 18. KOREANS BRAVE JAP HATRED IN A PLEA FOR NATIVE LAND

Four Hundred Prominent
Nationalists Sign Petition Which Is Sent To The Washington Conference

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7.—Risking their lives as well as their liberty, some 400 prominent Koreans have signed a petition, presented to the conference here, asking for a hearing for the Korean Commission upon the question of restoring Korea's independence and expelling the Japanese forces from that country.

Every one of the signers is now within reach of the Japanese military police, and unless Japanese policy is drastically changed by reason of the fact that the eyes of the world are upon her, the Tokyo government may be expected to throw them into prison and to torture or hang a large number of them, as a warning against future treason. Twenty-seven thousand Korean patriots have already been flogged by Japanese soldiers, while many thousands of others have been shot or hanged.

Not only are the various national patriotic societies represented by the signatures of their leaders, but the religious, educational, legal, medical, labor, economic and women's societies join with the representatives of the old nobility, headed by Prince Ewha, second son of the late emperor. There are also the signatures of elected spokesmen of each of the 12 provinces and each of the 260 provincial districts of Korea.

NATIONS BAN GAS

are booked to sail Jan. 14, and they see no reason for cancelling their reservations.

A plenary session may be held early in the new week. After the gas resolution was adopted the powers began consideration of "humanizing" still another implement of modern warfare—the airplane. The sub-committee appointed to examine into this matter, rendered a lengthy report, but no action was taken on it, and consideration went over until next Monday.

No formal resolution was presented today placing restrictions upon the bombing of unfortified cities and non-combatant populations but the belief prevailed the measure will be proposed.

Had Feeling for Daddy

Maxine was visiting a friend. Her mother told her to return home at four o'clock, and when the time arrived she put away her playthings and prepared to leave. Social Action and Affection

Among the delusions which at different periods have possessed themselves of the minds of large masses of the human race, perhaps the most curious—certainly the least creditable—is the modern "sol-disant" science of political economy, based on the idea that an advantageous code of social action may be determined irrespectively of the influence of social affection.—Ruskin.

Harding On Newberry

PRESIDENT HARDING'S eleventh hour intervention in behalf of Truman H. Newberry, junior senator from Michigan, may do credit to his loyalty as a friend, but it will give no fame to his wisdom as a President. On the contrary, it is a capital political blunder, one likely to be as costly to the Republican party as was former President Taft's indiscreet discourse at Winona. That episode as much as anything else deprived Mr. Taft of the united support of his party in 1912, and incidentally made possible the Democratic success.

The Newberry election is a national scandal which the people of this country will neither condone nor forget. Taking the most favorable view possible, it is admitted that Senator Newberry permitted his agents to expend approximately a quarter of a million dollars in making his campaign. His candidacy was "sold" to the people as tho it were a package of cigarettes. It has not been argued that voters were directly bribed to vote for Mr. Newberry. Influential political leaders, however, were paid to work for him, and they were given a free hand to purchase the paraphernalia of electioneering. Unlimited money to hire workers and to buy advertising is much more persuasive than direct bribery. Democratic government cannot survive elections determined by the lavish use of money.

Mr. Newberry was first seated because his vote was needed to enable the Republican party to organize the United States Senate. He ought never to have been seated. It would have been better to await the full tide of the return of the party to favor. Th exigency, which permitted his initial entry has, furthermore, long since passed. Newberry's vote is not needed and his presence in the Senate ought not to be tolerated. Personally, he may be as virtuous as many of his colleagues. He may have done nothing which others would not have done in similar circumstances. All that, however, is irrelevant.

What he did was to ride into the Senate upon a torrent of money. He permitted to be spent in his electoral campaign about five times the total salary of the office for six years. The acceptance of him upon those terms would be a warning to the country that the present majority of the Senate looks with complacency upon such methods. It would be a challenge which decent citizens would quickly resent.

Relatives

WILLIAM M. HASKELL, director of the American Relief Administration in Russia, reports that the $20,000,000 recently appropriated by the American government will be largely responsible for saving between 5,000,000 and 10,000,000 Russian children and adults who would otherwise have died before the next harvest. "We cannot hope to fill their stomachs," he says, grimly; "we cannot hope to make them happy, but we can keep them from dying."

Not all observers are as optimistic. Relief workers in north-east Russia and in Turkestan tell a more terrible story of millions waiting apathetically for death from starvation, and of the march of typhus, which competes with hunger for its victims. Enormous stretches of once fruitful land now bear literally nothing. Refugees who have not reached the last stages of hunger and disease wander from one desolated region to another. Among the survivors are being sown the seeds of weakness and disabilities which will curse the coming generation.

The failure of the outside world to realize the full meaning of this horrible tragedy was illustrated by the opposition which our small appropriation encountered in its passage thru congress. It is illustrated again by the 30 per cent. increase in freight rates to the Baltic, which occurred, as Mr. Hoover has shown, after it was announced that American grain would be sent abroad; and by the cynical explanation of American shipping men that there is no profit in carrying this food for dying women and children.

A study of the events which have most interested American newspaper readers would show that the Russian famine, in which more people are likely to be lost than the entire population of Ireland, stands far below the rumor that Will Hays will quit his postmastership to go into motion pictures, and cannot compare in significance with the suspension of Babe Ruth. This indifference is partly due to that healthy callousness without which no sensitive person could endure life for a day. But there is something abnormal about our American calm, a quality not political but closely related to that political situation which enables senators and even ambassadors to boast that we have no duties and no responsibilities outside our own borders. We are by inheritance the most cosmopolitan of nations, but our point of view is still colonial. For us in normal times the foreigner hardly exists, except as a prospective immigrant, a picturesque background to a personally conducted European tour, or a potential enemy.

What we need most is not so much a softening of the heart, for we are ready enough to give to the sick or hungry who are at our gates, but a stimulating of the imagination. That has been and is Mr. Hoover's hardest task.

New York Day-By-Day

IMPROVEMENT IS A REAL SURPRISE

Friends Are Astonished To See Her Looking So Well—Gains 23 Pounds

"Four bottles of Tanlac has increased my weight from one hundred and four to one hundred and twenty-seven pounds in weight, and I'm now eating things I haven't dared eat before in years," said Mrs. Clarence F. Abert, of 233 Curtis St., Rochester, N. Y.

"For six years I was a constant sufferer from stomach trouble, nervousness and what was called intestinal indigestion. My appetite failed me completely, and I couldn't eat enough to keep up my strength. I would boast so bad that I would almost smother at times, and I lost weight until I was only a shadow of what I had been. My blood was weak, too, and any cut or scratch was very hard to heal up. My nerves were so upset that I could scarcely sleep, and I would get up mornings so weak and dizzy that I could hardly stay on my feet, and couldn't stand the sight of food. My head ached until it was almost unbearable. My housework was out of the question, for I couldn't even do the lightest kind of sweeping, and was beginning to despair of ever getting well."

"One of my relatives persuaded me to try Tanlac, and I can never praise the medicine enough. Why, it has given me a wonderful appetite, everything agrees with me, and I have actually gained twenty-three pounds in weight. I'm no longer nervous, have regained my strength, and my color has returned. I feel better than I have in years, and people tell me I look so well. This is my experience with Tanlac, it has restored my health after everything else failed, and my gratitude is unbounded."

table so near the orchestra that we could not talk so to another table where sat Gerald Mygast, the pamphleteer, and C. Volght, the liner, all very gay. Later to see "Bull Dog Drummond" and so to bed.

All the vampires are not in the movies! In New York there is the cafe Vampire now a part of the scenery in the sequestered French places. Perhaps coquette would be a better word. Anyway she comes in alone, sits a little aloof from the rest of the diners and employs all her evil beauty to lure men to her table. She generally dresses in a tight fitting black gown and her lips are as crimson as if stained by the heart blood of victims. She puffs daintly at her gold tipped cigarette and looks dreamily at the crowds. There is a cold brightness to her eyes as alluring as the voice of the Lorelei.

Speaking of women who toy with the hearts of men a young friend of mine told me of a marble hearted lady who had cast him adrift after six months of feverish devotion. My comment was that she was indeed cruel.

"Cruel," he says, "I'll say she was—as cruel as a laundry."

In all the years I have been in New York I have never seen a silver dollar. The aversion to the silver dollar is one of the city's secrets. A waiter feels insulted if one is given to him. Taxicab drivers refuse them when they are offered by westerners.

The singing boatmen of China have nothing on New York's market vendors who warble their chants so they barter off their last wares along First Avenue. It is a picturesque sight. At the head of the market stand the women fortune tellers, the wrinkled old lemon men and the fish vendors with their shiners barely dead. Further down the lines are the garlic and nut peddlers. A half hour before the market closes the songs start. They drift from one aria to the other. Many of them have excellent voices and when they sing their prices go down. Customers call them "sunset bargains" and do their shopping then.

On one of the Staten Island ferries is a blind harpist who plays old time melodies voyaging back and forth for small coins that are dropped into his cup. Every night he is led away by a middle aged man who appears very prosperous. The gatekeeper told me: "That's the old man's son. He comes down and gets him nightly. He's a big merchant uptown but the old man lives in one of the seamen's lodging houses."

WALT MASON

AFTER CHRISTMAS

The Christmas season's past and gone, the New Year looms along its course; I sang glad carols on the lawn, and caught a cold, and now I'm hoarse. I have rheumatism in my knee, more ailments than I care to state; I drink large draughts of poison tea the druggist brings me in a crate. The Christmas spirit filled my breast, I shook off all the old age stuff, I chortled till I couldn't rest, and with the kids played blind man's bluff. I ate too many geese and ducks, too many turkeys, cakes and pies, and now I'm taking pills of nux, and other pills that I despise. I caroled in the ice and snow, as people caroled in the past; I went forth where the wild winds blow and froze my whiskers in the blast. The women bring me chicken broth and flagons from the cistern pump, and say I tried to cut a swath on Christmas evening, like a chump. Perhaps I was a chump, my lads, perhaps I was a giddy loon; When young folks play the old gray dads should sit before the fire and croon. I see it now, here in my den, my joints all stiff and muscles sore, but when the Yuletide comes again, I'll be a blooming chump once more.

SEMI-GOVERNMENT

CONTROL FOR THE NITRATE PLANTS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9.—Semi-government control of the nitrate plant and water power projects at Muscle Shoals, Ala., were among suggestions made to Secretary Weeks today by Charles C. Tinkler, president of the North American Construction Co. of San Francisco, when he presented his proposal for taking over the southern properties.

F. C. Hitchcock, Tinkler's chief engineer, went into conference with the Secretary of War, prepared to answer questions as to their plans.

The plan submitted said Weeks "related only to the construction of the plant and did not contemplate the manufacture of fertilizer. On the other hand, the Ford offer contemplated both the completion of the project and the manufacture of nitrates for fertilizer purposes."

Dream Lore.
For a man to dream of reading a newspaper indicates that he will be successful in whatever he undertakes, become very rich and arrive at great honors in the state. To a maid it denotes that she will marry a man who will become rich and powerful and that her children will be people of great consequence. To dream you buy or sell them denotes hard work and small profit. To dream of one printed in a foreign language denotes a letter from afar.

Financial Letter

NEW YORK, Jan. 9. — Further progress toward a definite adjustment between European powers seems to be in sight as a feature of the meetings shortly to be held at Cannes and The Hague. There is now unquestionably a well marked program of procedure to which Great Britain is slowly bringing the representatives of France to assent. It doubtless involves the modification of German indemnity agreements to the end that payment may be facilitated. With this out of the way as a preliminary, the conferences in question may devote themselves to the development of much needed plans for stabilizing exchange and restoring monetary soundness.

Federal Finance

With the reassembling of Congress the question of Federal finance once more assumes first class importance. There is but too much reason to fear that a soldiers' bonus plan may be passed. Dangerous legislation affecting the banking system is also contemplated or on the point of passing. The death of Senator Bois Penrose, of Pennsylvania, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, creates an important vacancy in the upper chamber and necessitates new political alignments, if confusion on the tariff question is to be avoided. A proposal to adopt a sales tax plan for the purpose of paying bonuses tends to hurt the sales tax itself as a feature of our fiscal system. Congress has not yet found the courage to provide for any international debt funding measure. All these matters are under discussion on the part of the Administration, but to find a way out of the tangle calls for the support and assistance of the business public. These, it would seem, are in a fair way to be rendered by some organizations. With Government credit at a higher level than for many months past, and with the budget satisfactorily balanced, industrial and trade conditions being generally brighter now than for some time, it would be almost unthinkable that the community would submit to policies wholly subversive of progress or soundness.

New Year Business Better
Various indications of continued improvement in business are to be noted, among them the growth of output in various industrial lines. Recession in the price of agricultural commodities, notably wheat and cotton are, however, seriously regarded as being indicative of less satisfactory conditions for the farmer. This makes the problem of financing an adequate acreage for the new year important, and lays a large burden of responsibility upon the country bank. The export situation has changed but little within the past month and obviously calls for new financing methods at the earliest possible moment. Curtailment of the price of crude oil during the past week hurt oil stocks, but was from other points of view a desirable change inasmuch as fuel has been abnormally high. A parallel reduction in coal prices is foreseen by many and will greatly help manufacturing conditions in a number of lines. The railroad situation has improved in at least a corresponding degree with other business, showing about 4 per cent net earnings on Class I roads. With a reasonable measure of conservatism on the part of the Government, transportation will apparently succeed in reaching a stable condition sooner than the larger manufacturing enterprises. Notwithstanding that a relatively unsatisfactory business year in steel is foreseen by some experts it is to be expected that there will be steady upward progress as is indicated by recent developments in the industry and by the general shortage of supply.

Money Market Developments
The most important development in the money market now to be awaited seems to be the new funding and financing plan of the Treasury Department, which should make its appearance shortly. This plan will provide for the maturities falling due during the coming months and the rate of interest which is offered will probably be in an important sense a pace-maker for the investment and money market in general. The continued firmness in the price of bonds and the relatively small range of movements in most branches of the market point to the belief that conditions there have become fairly fixed. Not only the presence of a large and continuous supply of Government interest-bearing obligations, but also the better opportunities which are likely to be opened a road militate against the belief that extremely cheap money is to be expected as an incident of the early future, except perhaps from time to time, for very short periods; nevertheless, with a Federal Reserve ratio of 71.1 per cent, as shown this week, and with the comparatively small demand for bank accommodations, it can be taken for granted that the supplies for a long time ahead will be adequate to meet all requirements, and that high rates are a thing of the past.

Market Review and Outlook
Market conditions during the past week have been considerably disturbed as a result of banking rumors and profit taking sales of stocks. While these incidental factors are perhaps responsible to some extent for the situation, it must be confessed that the buying orders from the general public since the turn of the year have fallen far below expectations. This no doubt is partly due to the knowledge that the earnings reports of a great many industrial companies for the past year will not make very cheerful reading when the figures are known. The annual statements of several important concerns which have thus far put in an appearance emphasize this feature. It is generally understood that trade in all directions last year was very slow and that a number of companies have had to shoulder severe losses owing to shrinkage in inventories. It would seem that this has already been fairly well discounted so far as liquidation of securities is concerned; still there can be no doubt that a great many people, who otherwise might become free buyers, are disposed to sit on the fence until the results of operations are actually disclosed. This suggests a rather quiet market for the immediate future, but with anything like encouraging trade developments, so freely predicted, there is good reason for believing that the demand for stocks would quicken very considerably.

is not expected to be a candidate for re-election.
The term of the county treasurer will end the first Monday of September, 1923. Charles Bechtel, who entered upon his first term in that office in September, 1921 is expected to run for his second term.

H. G. Thresh's first term as county recorder will also terminate the first Monday of September 1921. In all probability he will be a candidate for a second term.

J. Howard Shaw, clerk of courts, will not run for re-election he has stated. Shaw's second term ends the third Monday in August 1923.

Ernest Darr, county sheriff, Lloyd S. Leech, county prosecutor, John Frew, county surveyor and Dr. E. M. Wright, county coroner, will all probably be candidates for second terms in their respective offices.

The terms of the sheriff, prosecutor and coroner all expire the first Monday of January 1923. The surveyor's term expires in September of the same year.

With the exception of the county auditor, all of the county officers named so far are elected for two year terms.
A county commissioner will be elected at the coming election for a term of four years. Previously the commissioner's term was two years but the legislation that extended the term of the county auditor also extended the commissioner's term.

In 1921 two more commissioners will be elected. In order to make the election of commissioners fall every two years, the term of one of the commissioners elected at the polls in 1919 was cut short, expiring the first Monday of October 1923. The short term fell to J. J. Gamersfelder. It is considered probable that he will be a candidate for re-election.

Louis Ludlow, the well known Washington Correspondent in his daily letter to the Columbus Dispatch "Watching Ohioans Run the Government" had the following comments on former Congressman Ashbrook a few days ago:

Former Representative William A. Ashbrook of Johnstown, Ohio, is about due for an early comeback on the stage of politics. By reason of the fact that the present Ohio delegation in the national house of representatives is solidly Republican, and heretofore Ohio is not represented on the Democratic national congressional committee, a suggestion that an honorary member of the committee be appointed from Ohio is now under consideration. If the plan is finally approved it is expected that Ashbrook will be offered the appointment. One reason for this is that the Democratic leaders here are unanimous in their belief that Ashbrook will be re-elected to congress next year and then his status could be changed easily and naturally from an honorary membership to that of a regular member of the congressional committee.

The Democratic congressional committee is now in progress of reorganization for the battle next year, which is to determine whether the Democrats or the Republicans shall control the house of representatives during the Sixty-eighth congress. Inasmuch as Ohio is to be one of the principal battlegrounds of the 1922 congressional campaign, it is considered desirable and important that the Buckeye state shall be represented in the membership of the congressional committee and the only feasible way to achieve that end is to appoint an honorary member for the state of Ohio.

If Ashbrook is appointed he will be to all intents and purposes, except in name, an active member of the committee. He will be looked to for advice in the assignment of speakers and the distribution of funds to the Ohio congressional districts and in all other matters that would have a bearing on the campaign in Ohio.

While the battle lines are being formed for the 1922 fray it will be interesting to Ohioans to know that the secretary of the Democratic national congressional committee is an Ohio man—D. K. Hempstead of Wilmington, Hempstead, no doubt, will continue to serve in that capacity during the fight next year. He is as efficient as he is quiet and unassuming. When the Republicans took charge of the lower branch he went over to the congressional committee as its secretary.

GOSPEL MEMORIAL ORDINANCES

Splendid Meeting, Large Crowd at the City Hall, Monstrous Multitude At The River At The Foot Of Locust St., Witnessing the Ordinance Of River Baptism. L. Schmidt, the Evangelist Will Immerse Some More People Tomorrow, Tuesday, 12:30, at Noon at the Same Place

L. SCHMIDT, EVANGELIST,
The Revelation 14 Mission Man

The Revelation 14 Mission Man used undivided bread and made wine out of grapes in the presence of the people at the services in the City Hall Sunday afternoon, and some gave a demonstration of feet washing at the services. The lesson was in part as follows:

THE LORD'S SUPPER

On the night of his betrayal Christ instituted the Lord's Supper. Matt. 26:26-29; Mark 14:22-25; Luke 22:19-20. Thus this ordinance faith is shown in Christ's sufferings and death, and that his blood cleanses from all sin. May 26, 27-28. Mark 14:22-25; 1 Cor. 11:23-25. The Lord's Supper is a memorial of Christ's suffering and death for sinners. 1 Cor. 11:23-25.

ORDINANCE OF FEET WASHING—When Christ ate his last passover with his disciples, he washed their feet. John 13:1-12. The object of this was to teach them humility. John 13:12-16. Luke 22:24-27.

BIBLE BAPTISM

Faith in Christ's death, burial, and resurrection is shown by baptism. Rom. 6:2-5; Gal. 3:27. That which precedes baptism is, the preaching of the gospel Matt. 28:19-20; Mark 16:15-16; Acts 2:41; 19:19; 22:16. Faith, repentance, going down, coming up out of the water. Bible Baptism is a memorial of Christ's resurrection. There will be a special prayer meeting at the Mission rooms 621 East 5th, Wednesday evening, 7:30. All welcome. Mr. Schmidt will baptize some men during the night in the river to avoid the crowds of the curious.

STOMACH UPSET?

Get at the Real Cause—Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

That's what thousands of stomach sufferers are doing now. Instead of taking tonics, or trying to patch up a poor digestion, they are attacking the real cause of the ailment—clogged liver and disordered bowels.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets arouse the liver in a soothing, healing way. When the liver and bowels are performing their natural functions, away goes indigestion and stomach troubles.

Have you a bad taste, coated tongue, poor appetite, a lazy, don't-care feeling, no ambition or energy, trouble with undigested foods? Take Olive Tablets the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil. You will know them by their olive color. They do the work without gripping, cramps or pain.

Take one or two at bedtime for quick relief. Eat what you like. 15c and 30c.
